SPRUCE CREEK HIGH SCHOOL

Get Ready for the New World Language Showcase on March 15, 2014

We hope you enjoy our new World Language Showcase brochure! As a world language teacher and President of the Volusia County Association of Foreign Language Teachers, I am happy to present this brochure which is the result of hard work by dedicated teachers of World Languages who believe that special events are important in motivating students and who also enjoy sharing their love for other cultures and languages with the community.

In June 2013, a group of passionate teachers felt that the time had come to change our yearly "Foreign Language Festival" in order to produce an event more adjusted to the needs of today's teachers. We met over the summer to organize a new project, we communicated online, and we set up monthly meetings during the school year, forming a Professional Learning Community in which reflections about our instructional goals, the sharing of best practices, and the creation of a new and improved "World Language Showcase" were the driving forces. We took inspiration from an existing Volusia County event, the "Volusia Literacy Fair", and put together a list of various events that will showcase our "best" student productions, and at the same time express the diversity and variety of courses and cultures coexisting in our County.

This brochure presents the events in which students may participate in our March 15, 2014 showcase. The events will be sponsored by involved teachers who set the criteria for each event and who will judge the submitted entries. I would like to thank each of the teachers for their time and help sponsoring an event.

In particular, I would like to single out and thank the following people for their support, help, and active participation in creating the new World Language Showcase:

- Ms. Anita Fernandez and Ms. Cheryl Sarasua who supported this project early on and believed that change was a positive and needed step.
- Ms. Daisy Guruvadoo, Ms. Ligia Cabrera, and Ms. Rosa Galliano who are active in finding businesses and community members ready to get involved.
- Ms. Yvette Henebury who works on creating connections between the project and our professional plans.
- Ms. Mary Kay Jiloty who put this brochure together.
- Mr. Doug Keller whose organizational skills and advice are needed and appreciated.
- Ms. Gianna Acevedo-Alamo, our World Language Coordinator who is always ready to support us.
- Ms. Susan Gangi, Spruce Creek High School administrator who was available and willing to listen to our reflection, to share ideas and direct me to the people who could be of help.
- Dr. Todd Sparger, Spruce Creek High School Principal, for his support of our world languages and for allowing us to stage our event at the school.

This new World Language Showcase is a work in progress, and we hope that most Volusia County's world language teachers will be ready to give it a try and get their students involved. World languages are such an important tool in allowing us to be productive and open-minded global citizens. Let's be active in showcasing our languages; let's be proud of them!

World Language Showcase 2014

March 15, 2014

List and Explanation of Events

Greetings, World Language Teachers!

Welcome to a New Year and to a new World Languages Showcase. For those of you who have participated in the Volusia County Foreign Language Festival, we hope you will be excited about the changes we have made for this year. The idea is to make the activities and competitions more interactive and relevant for our students. You will find that in addition to the numerous new types of events, we have also streamlined the process. There is no registration fee for students.

Before Showcase

Wouldn't you like to showcase the projects and activities your students are already doing? Here is your opportunity.

Check the list of "Before Showcase" events listed in the table of contents. Each teacher sponsor has determined the number of entries that may be submitted for each particular event. You choose your best student samples and send them to the designated sponsor at his/her school by February 21, 2014. The teacher sponsor(s) will be responsible for the judging of these entries and the setup at the World Languages Showcase at Spruce Creek High School on March 15, 2014.

Day of Showcase

These events are interactive or "live" competitions. Students must attend on the day of the Showcase in order to participate. These events require a registration as the sponsors must have enough space/materials on hand for each participant. The number of entries will be limited, especially when space is a consideration, so please be prompt in registering your students. Please read the sponsor's event criteria carefully as each has its own specific instructions.

Guidelines

Create an advertisement in your world language for a business within our community! All information would be in the language studied. Create a business slogan or 'catchy' phrase (think "Where Shopping is a Pleasure" as Publix's slogan). The business name, address, contact information, and all pertinent information in the world language, along with original artwork that represents your chosen business must be included.

- All Languages and Levels
- Language complexity/sophistication should match the level of language learning
- Advertisement must use the target language exclusively (except for the business name) and include a slogan and pertinent information for advertising a local business.
- Advertisement must be on 20" x 26" card stock, poster board, or similar paper. Artwork must be student-generated but the text may be computer-generated 'cut & paste'.

Deadline

A maximum of five entries/language/level/school
Deadline for submission: February 21, 2014

Contest

The submissions will be judged upon creativity, originality, sophistication and accuracy of expression with prizes for the top scorers from each language and level (middle and high school will be judged separately).
